

AMIDEAST is glad to inform you about the PSAT opportunity for Spring 2020 that will benefit the students who will be taking the SAT in the future.

We are now able to offer you the PSAT for you to give to you on our test date in April 24, 2020. The PSAT is a version of the SAT for 10th and 11th graders, developed by SAT creator the College Board and administered annually to over 3.8 million students.

We are also able to offer to you in the 8th and 9th grades the PSAT 8/9. The PSAT 8/9 will take place on April 24, 2020.

Whatever grade you are in, taking the PSAT will provide each student with an individualized score that tells them what score they would have received on the SAT as well as detailed information on what areas they should focus on to improve their scores.

The attached presentation provides additional information and background on the two tests. Key benefits of taking the PSAT are that it--

- Covers the same content areas as SAT and is delivered under the same conditions—providing ideal practice
- Shows students how they would do on SAT, with score scale and score reports that are almost identical
- Provides detailed feedback on exact areas of strength and weakness
- Allows students to automatically generate a personalized study plan for free online SAT preparation

The cost for the PSAT test is much lower than taking the SAT exam. When you order through AMIDEAST, you just choose the number of tests you will use. Moreover, you do not have to handle details such as the school code application and test ordering processes. The cost of the test is $28 per student.

We will need to know how many of each test you will need by February 13, 2020 to ensure that your test materials arrive on time.

We are now able to offer you the PSAT to give to you on our test date on April 24, 2020 for PSAT and PSAT 8/9. This test would be a great practice and assessment for you.

Please check the attached presentation which provide information and background on the PSAT tests, benefits, cost, and deadline to submit the order.
